

safety at Scheck

It is the policy of Scheck Industries to strive for the highest safety standards on every project. Safety cannot be considered a priority ranked in order of importance, but must be an attribute inherent in every operation.

Scheck Industries is committed to the concept that all injuries can be prevented. Basic to this concept is the view that no injury is acceptable in the execution of a project. It is our performance expectation that there will be no injuries on our jobsites.

To enhance our safety efforts, we complete daily safe work plans in order to identify job hazards and safety precautions that should be utilized. We also perform weekly safety audits on all projects in addition to unannounced audits of every jobsite by our safety department staff.

Scheck receives numerous awards each year in recognition of their innovative safety programs.

“The Scheck safety program brought tremendous value to our project. Their unified team effort to make safety a priority exceeded our expectations.”

– William E. Nystrom,
Maintenance Supervisor/
Precommissioning Manager,
Amoco Corporation

innovative